Animal Science Products, Inc. Expands Sales Into Central and South America Through Their Newest Distribution Partner, "CoinVet, Inc."

May 3, 2010

Nacogdoches, Texas - Animal Science Products Inc., a leading family owned premix blender, feed additive distributor and package goods manufacturer, has entered into a distributor agreement with CoinVet, Inc. of Colombia for Central and South America.

CoinVet, Inc., led by Mr. Pedro Lopez, President, will be distributing the full array of Animal Science Products Water/Vaccine Stabilizers as well as PKA®, a pH water treatment product. The array of stabilizers includes Vac-Pac® and Vac-Pac Plus® for drinking water vaccination, Spray-Vac® for spray vaccination in both the hatchery and poultry house, and Opti-Vac® for protection of eye drop vaccines. These products are recognized around the globe for performance and value.

Commenting on the addition to the ASP family, ASP Director of Integrated Business, Mr. Culley Wilson said, "We gladly welcome CoinVet, Inc. to Animal Science Products growing family of international distributors. We are very pleased to be working with Mr. Pedro Lopez, Mr. Luis Fernando Garcia (pictured above), and Mr. Hector Avilan of the CoinVet team. Together these men have over 60 years experience in the Latin American poultry and swine industry. Their deep rooted contacts and experience in the Latin American market combined with their commitment to integrity, honesty, and passion for the animal health industry is a recipe for success. CoinVet, like Animal Science Products, pride themselves on providing innovative solutions to their customers and the quality conscious cultures of the two companies align very well."
