

Animal Science Products Expands Sales Into Jordan Through Their Newest Distribution Partner, "FEEDCO", The Feed Concentrate Factory Company Friday, April 23, 2010

Nacogdoches, Texas- Animal Science Products Inc., a leading privately-owned premix blender, feed additive distributor and package goods manufacturer, has signed a distributor agreement with FEEDCO, The Feed Concentrate Factory Company in Amman, Jordan.

FEEDCO led by Technical and Marketing Manager Apkar Kevorkian, will be distributing the entire family of ASP Vaccine Stabilizers as well as PKA, pH water treatment. The Vaccine Stabilizer line includes Vac-Pac[®] and Vac-Pac Plus[®] for water application vaccination, Spray-Vac[®] liquid for spray vaccination in both the hatchery and poultry house, and the newest family member, Opti-Vac[®] for protection of eye drop vaccines. These products are recognized around the globe for performance and value.

Additionally, the PKA, pH water treatment product is the strongest mineral acid available. It allows producers to acidify drinking water at a rate that can affect the biological pH yet not reduce water consumption. It is also highly effective in removing biofilm and scale from drinking lines.

Commenting on the addition to the ASP family, ASP President Mr. Bailey Reynolds said, 'We welcome FEEDCO to the Animal Science Products family of distributors. The Reynolds family is very pleased to be working with the Kevorkian family. We understand family owned businesses and we look forward to a long and prosperous relationship.'
