

Merial and Animal Science Products Collaborate for Best Vaccination Practices Seminar

March 31, 2011

Merial Presentation

Animal Science Products, Inc., the global leader in poultry vaccine stabilizers, recently conducted a Best Vaccination Practices Seminar for Merial. The seminar was presented for a portion of Merial's Asian Poultry team, which included management, veterinarians, and technical services personnel throughout the region. There were over thirty people in attendance representing over seven Asian countries. Mr. Ryan Izard, Chief Science and Technology Officer, made the presentation to the Merial team. Mr. Bailey Reynolds, President of Animal Science Products, Inc., commented, "Merial has been a long-standing international distributor of our vaccine stabilizers. The goal of our seminar was to build on their knowledge, enabling Merial to position our products for their Asian customer-base and making them aware of the protection our products provide. This presentation will help them better understand how we can protect their high quality vaccines and ultimately help their customers succeed by ensuring their flocks are inoculated to the highest degree". Dr. Hai Aun Ong, Head of Avian Business, Other Asia, commented, "We appreciate ASP's collaboration with Merial and look forward to continuing our long-standing relationship".
